

Sgt. Grimmatt receives Capstone Award

The City would like to congratulate Sergeant Jason Grimmatt for being the first New Buffalo police officer to receive the Capstone Award on February 6, 2014. This award is given after completion of three one-week trainings in police supervision, advance police supervision and supervising critical situations. The courses dealt with police leadership and management skills to help Sgt. Grimmatt supervise and guide his fellow officers. He was presented with the award at the Michigan Association of Chiefs of Police conference in Grand Rapids, Michigan. This award is recognized by the State of Michigan, the Michigan State Police and endorsed by the Michigan Municipal Risk Management Authority.

Sgt. Grimmatt (above right) has been with the City of New Buffalo for 8 years. He was the K-9 handler for 6 years and became Sergeant in June 2012.
